What elements do you feel are essential to these boxes?

Objects that my students can touch, feel and manipulate. I check out these Discovery Boxes because I want to show my students things from other countries that I don't have time to collect on my own.

What elements do you feel are missing from the boxes?

More hands-on objects that students can manipulate

In regard to the curriculum binders included in some of the boxes; do you find the material helpful? If not, what would you suggest to replace it?

No. I don't usually look at the binders because we ~~have~~ follow the Core Knowledge curriculum. Also because ~~my~~ I have already written my lesson plans by the time I check out the box.

Would related or suggested activities in the format of a CD be useful?

Yes. Lesson plans and activities on a CD or website would be helpful. I might be able to use the lessons if I could read them before the week I check out the box.
